9 00 NEWS, WEATHER.

9 25 RUNNING BLIND—The Messenger Boy. A new three-part thriller with an Icelandic background.

GUIDE BY RONALD HASTINGS

based on Desmond Bagley's best selling book. A Scot, formerly in the Secret Service, is blackmailed out of retirement for what appears to be a simple job: feeding lint to collect and seize a parcel. With many unpronounceable Icelandic echos and overtones.

10 15 UP UP AND AWAY—The Man Fly Another new series, seven programmes, with William Woollard on the history of flight. East — In The Country; Midlands — Where Is Love?; North — Sweetness with Geoffrey Smith; South — A Year From Pentecost; West — Peninsula; West — NTC1.

10 45 NEWS, WEATHER.

10 50 INTERNATIONAL TENNIS — Highlights from the world doubles championships at Olympia.

11 30 1.15 "WHAT'S NEW PUSSYCAT" (1965)—Wildly undistributed, zany comedy with Peter Sellers and Peter O'Toole which was wildly unfunny and dismal irritating. A waste of many, beautiful women as the stars made tasteless, tumbling fools of themselves.

Wales

1.45 Shoreys Shoogle. 3.00-3.55 Cloudbow. 6.55 Heddiw. 7.25 Sam and Jenny. 7.40-8.30 Star Trek. 10.15-10.45 Kaleo on Friday.

7 05 NEWS, WEATHER.

7 10 MAIDENS' TRIP—A repeat of the play by Thomas Eliot, based on the novel by Emma Smith, about three 15-year-old girls who, as their part of the war effort in 1918, take charge of a narrow boat and a towed barge with cargoes of steel and coal on the canal between London and Birmingham. This is a compilation of the previous three-part serial.

8 30* COUNTRY GAME—Walking the Cleveland Way in North Yorkshire and ending up on the Esk Valley line, a beautiful single track railway. Also bacon making, brass and other domestic implements from Sussex. With Phil Drabble, Angela Rippon and others.

9 00 POT BLACK 79—The annual game brings forth five new challenges. Doug Mountjoy, against the 1977 champion, the 16-banded South African, Perrie Mans.

9 25* "COUSIN, COUSINE" (1975)—Fast moving and wittily acimed French comedy with a middle-class family background against which a number of light hearted or more earnest affairs are entwined. Two married couples exchange partners, with Marie-Christine Barrault and Victor Lanoux.

11 00* JAZZ FROM MONTREUX. — A nice long programme, for once, though not all of it would be 100 per cent as jazz by everyone. Pee Wee Ellis, Guy Lou Williams, however, is welcome any time.

11 50 NEWS, WEATHER.

12 05 CLOSEDOWN—with Gwen Watford reading "Two Inkwells" by J. C. Hall, repeat.

Ballington to stay with Kawasaki

By GEORGE TURNBULL

KORK BALLINGTON, world champion at both 250cc and 350cc, has turned down a chance of the biggest prize in motor cycling to stay with Kawasaki, the factory which gave him his big break.

Kawasaki's announcement revealed that three riders retained the South African rider's services for the new season represents a considerable coup—because Ballington, 27, is one of the hottest properties in road racing.

The other Japanese giants, Yamaha and Suzuki, must have tempted to offer him a chance after his successful years in his first years as a Kawasaki works rider; and Ballington's decision to stay is a great feather for his locality.

By remaining with Kawasaki, Ballington—whose twin-cylinder handed him the ultimate award when he voted him Rider of the Year—will have to stay with the smaller classes, reserves both bikes and he is in a position to give him a crack at the 500cc world crown.

Hansford undecided

Greg Hansford, the tall and talented Australian who finished second and third to Ballington in the championships last year, has still not made up his mind whether to remain Kawasaki.

John Norman, the Team Kawasaki T.K supremo, needs confirmation of this rider's GP circuit, and with the departure of Mick Grant to Honda, is equally desperate for a top-class rider to carry the flag in the superbike class in this country.

On the motocross front, however, Mr Norman is not short of talent. Last year, Brad Lackey has been lured from Honda America at a cost which is reported to make him the most expensive motocross rider ever, and Gaston Thorpe, 16, widely tolled as a world champion in the making, has also been "snatched" from Honda on a longterm contract.

Ballington he equipped with the new Kawasaki 400, said to be the most potent machine in motocross, Kawasaki's Dutch rival and the last years schoolboy champion, Garry Taylor.

CARGILLS ARE TOPS IN TRAINING

By ALAN SMITH
In Val d'Isere

BRITAINS Canadian born brother and sister, Crystal and Moira Cargill had their fastest times in training yesterday for the British International Downhill Championships in Val d'Isere tomorrow.

David—Britain's only expert ever to do skiing race since the re-opening of Sports Directorate—Jean Claude Killy and Nevada Smith, Greek Beez out of action after a fall—has not two World Cup Downhill races this year and yesterday that he felt they had been too much too soon.

A skier brought from the World Cup circuit will probably do him good and give him a chance to settle into Olympic Downhill.

Though Fitzsimmons has left the major race circuit, as the result of disappointing results over the years, he will be competing in these championships, sponsored by the British Land Company.

As he said yesterday, he has been in top training in preparation for the season and it seemed a shame to waste him. He will be his first race of the season, apart from a minor giant slalom in which he fell, and it might be unwise to expect too much.

Ready to help

Fitzsimmons is not leaving the ski race scene entirely, for his talents as a cameraman—the picture of Olympic gold medallist Frantz Klammer is one of the covers of the latest Ski Club magazine—is being put to good use by advertising agency. He hopes to take part in some of the Scottish races later in the year, as well as helping the younger ski racers.

Ross Blyth, 17, a young Scot who showed particular promise in Val d'Isere at last year's Lowlanders' Championships, clinched the Blyth best time overall yesterday, the second best by a Briton.

Moira Cargill, who was 20 last month, seems really hard at her fitness and has already produced a first rate World Cup result—15th in a downhill last month—to justify it. She was not entirely happy with her runs yesterday but clearly demands a high standard of herself, and that is the way to win.

Training conditions yesterday were not as good as on Wednesday. There was an almost gale force wind early, and the course was fairly slow. Visibility was with a substantial covering of fresh snow.

ISZATT FIRST FOR BRITAIN

By A Special Correspondent

Peter Iszatt, the United Kingdom national champion, came the Australian stronghold on the International Laser World Championships with victory in yesterday's fifth race in Glenelg, South Australia.

The race was sailed in a Force 3-5 southwesterly breeze and underwhelming since Sydney E.

At the end of the first beat David Beers of Tasmania was in the lead, but Iszatt took eighth place, but good spinnaker work put him fifth. On the third beat Beers and the following three boats held a course out to sea, but Iszatt came inshore on a long starboard tack before heading for the mark. He rounded it in front of Beers, gybed to port and ran out a comfortable winner. Iszatt, the first British sailor to finish out of it; Andrew Brown and Ian Brewer were doing well in the early stages, but both lost about 10 places on the second beat. Brown then overlayed the windward mark after a large windshift.

RACE—Discovery Bay (F. Beers, Aus.). 2 Ben Bassa (D. Beers, Aus.). 3 Pegasus (P. Cole, Aus.). 4 Aquila (Ian A. Other British placings: Andrew Brown 11th, Ian Brewer 14th, Ian Iszatt 15th.

OVERALL LEADERS (one discard)—1 Iszatt, 5 pts. 2 Beers, 11 pts. 3 Brown, 37 pts.

CAPES' CANADIAN CHALLENGE

Geoff Capes, Britain's No. 1 shot-putter, is off to Canada later this month to compete in a series of indoor meetings against many of the world's top shot specialists.

"It is just the sort of action I want," said Capes, who hopes to be back in Europe for the European Indoor Championships in Vienna.

Golf Roundabout — By MICHAEL WILLIAMS

Efforts to speed up game not consistent

THE Tournament Players' Division (TPD) have not exactly been consistent in their promises to try and speed up play by doing those who continue to drift on the Tuesdays and Greens.

Because they have also announced that their new policy will be to play Thursdays through all four rounds.

Had the golfers not so long ago decided that the Friday cut was the fairest way of ensuring that the best players reached the weekend in turn to compete for the prize, the TPD would, of course, have no use only on the Friday of the Bitburg competition, which, of course, the TPD cannot really run on the players.

Here, I must say, I find it difficult to reconcile the authorities and players on the matter of speed and rounding and the need. They are in Bradley's mind, I suppose, when he talks of the need for the pace of golf to be speeded up. Bradley, the 54-year-veteran winner of three events this year, is the man who drives the fifth tee, the hole which, I suppose, he is going to look on for the rest of his life as the one which cost him a place in the Ryder Cup team.

The fifth tee, and, incidentally, the sixth, are unusual. The fairway is narrow and the golfer, who wishes to avoid the water, is faced with a choice of two shots, one of which, if successful, will leave him with a short iron to the green, the other, if successful, will leave him with a long iron to the green.

Bradley, I think, is right. It is the kind of choice which golf should offer. It is the kind of choice which, I suppose, was in the mind of those who, in the 1930s, gave us the Redan, the Eighth at North Berwick, the Eighth at Muirfield, the Eighth at Sunningdale and the Eighth at Royal Lytham and St Annes.

Not, by the way, that I think the Redan is one of the finest holes in the world. Some people have tried to look on it as a kind of golfing version of the Bowling Green, the 18th hole at Hoylake, where the 18th green is deliberately placed so that it can be reached by a good second shot. The Redan, the Eighth at North Berwick, the Eighth at Muirfield, the Eighth at Sunningdale and the Eighth at Royal Lytham and St Annes are, I think, in a different category.
